

Subject: Lectureship/Senior Lectureship Position, Univ
of Kent

From: John Pearson <j.w.pearson@kent.ac.uk>

Date: August 19, 2016

The School of Mathematics, Statistics & Actuarial Science at the University of Kent invites applications for a Lectureship or Senior Lectureship in Mathematics. As it is a priority of the School to strengthen its research group in numerical analysis, preference may be given to outstanding candidates working in this area.

The successful candidate will have a doctorate in Mathematics or a closely aligned field, a strong research record in Mathematics
evidenced by publications in leading journals, conference
presentations, etc, and will ideally have experience of teaching
Mathematics at undergraduate and postgraduate levels.
Applications are particularly welcomed from researchers whose interests complement and enhance existing work within the School (see <http://www.kent.ac.uk/smsas/math/index.html>).

The closing date for applications is 18 September 2016, with interviews to be held on 7 October. Please see <https://goo.gl/hmjTxa> for further particulars.
