

Subject: Faculty Position, Applied Mathematics, Univ. of Washington

From: Randy LeVeque <rjl@uw.edu>

Date: October 26, 2018

The Department of Applied Mathematics at the University of Washington announces the availability of an open-rank full-time faculty position to start in September 2019. Candidates will be considered for the Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor rank, either tenure-track or tenured, depending upon experience and qualifications.

The department has current research strength in many areas; see

<http://depts.washington.edu/amath/>

Candidates can complement these existing strengths or they can bring in new areas of expertise. Outstanding candidates with expertise in the areas of numerical analysis and scientific computing, broadly

construed, are encouraged to apply.

For more details on required qualifications and application
instructions, see https://www.mathjobs.org/jobs/jobs/12485.

Review of applications will begin December 1, 2018.
